SUMMARY REPORT

DS-ADC-2008: GUIDED BIOFILM THERAPY

Guided Biofilm Therapy (GBT) is a modern approach to dental hygiene focused on the efficient and effective removal of biofilm, the primary cause of dental caries, periodontal, and peri-implant diseases. GBT involves a systematic, minimally invasive protocol using state-of-the-art technologies such as erythritol air polishing and Piezon ultrasonic devices. The process begins with disclosing agents to visualize biofilm, followed by targeted removal with advanced tools that preserve tooth structure and soft tissues. This technique enhances patient comfort, reduces treatment time, and promotes better oral health outcomes. By integrating GBT into dental practices, clinicians can offer superior preventive care, leading to improved patient satisfaction, compliance, and overall periodontal and peri-implant health.
