INSTITUTIONAL ETHICS COMMITTEE

An Institutional Ethics Committee (IEC) is a critical component of any organization, particularly in sectors such as healthcare, research, and academia. The primary role of an IEC is to oversee and ensure ethical standards and principles are upheld in all activities and decision-making processes within the institution.

OBJECTIVES:

- Committee's main objective is to give advice on moral questions in clinical care, educate clinical staff and public on issues in medical ethics, and develops policies related to patient care.

ROLES AND RESPONSIBILITIES:

1. To ensure the competent review and evaluation of all ethical aspects of research projects received, to ensure compliance with the appropriate laws and safeguard welfare of subjects.
2. Clinical ethics consultation.
3. Education of professional, administrative, and support staff about ethical issues.
4. Creation, developing, revising and implementing ethical guidelines (SOPS).
5. Initiate studies in ethics.
6. Continuing education and training programs to ensure that IEC members are qualified to perform their specific duties.
